Moonbloom Labs

Ideas bloom overnight.

Plant an idea at night. Wake up to done.

A human decides. Agents build.

Moonbloom Labs is an AI studio that turns an idea into a working prototype by the next morning. AI agents do the building; a person sets the direction and approves every step.

A prototype, not a production system. We agree the scope in the evening so it fits one night.

From evening idea to morning prototype

Evening

You describe the idea

In a short call or a written brief you tell us what you want to see working. Together we cut it to a scope that fits one night.

Night

Agents build and test

AI agents write the code and its tests, following the plan a senior architect reviewed before the build started.

Morning

Prototype, tests, demo, questions

You receive a working prototype, its tests, a short demo and a list of open questions and decisions.

Decision

Approve or refine

You decide what happens next: approve it, refine it in another night, or plan the path to production.

What we build

RAG & AI search

Ask your company documents questions and get answers with citations to the source.

Knowledge management

Turn scattered docs, wikis and chats into one searchable, maintained knowledge base.

Chatbots & AI assistants

Assistants for customer support, an internal helpdesk or onboarding new colleagues.

Gamification

Game mechanics for learning, onboarding, engagement and financial literacy.

AI integration

Language models and agents connected to your existing systems, APIs and workflows.

DevOps & cloud

CI/CD, Kubernetes, AWS, infrastructure as code and observability, so prototypes can become production systems.

What you get in the morning

Everything you need to make a decision over your first coffee.

- A working prototype
- Tests
- A short demo
- Open decisions and questions

What happens next

1. We read your idea and reply by email.
2. We agree the scope and an evening for a short call or written brief.
3. Agents build overnight; you review the prototype in the morning.

Have an idea for tonight?

Tell us about it. We'll reply to agree the scope and an evening to start.

Plant your idea

moonbloomlabs.com/contact/ Write to us: michal@maxian.sk